

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a conjunction and an adjective. Underline them.

a

These socks belong to the girls. Put an apostrophe in the correct place in this sentence about them:

The girls socks are hanging on the washing line.

c

Mr Whoops has made TWO clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentence. Can you underline them and correct them? Use a dictionary if you need to.

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history.

e

Replace the underlined word with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's.

b

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

d

Put the TWO homophones in the correct place in the sentence: (new/knew)

I _____ he had a _____ coat.

f

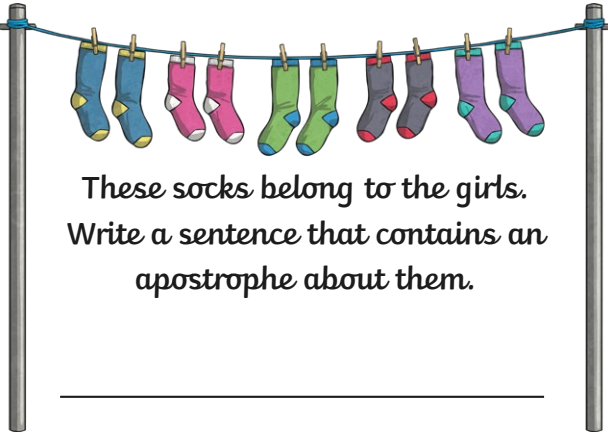

a

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a conjunction, an adverb and an adjective. Underline them.

c

These socks belong to the girls.
Write a sentence that contains an apostrophe about them.

e

Mr Whoops has made THREE clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentence. Can you underline them and correct them?

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history. He rained for 37 years.

b

Replace the underlined words with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's.

Zoe and Sam bought a pizza for dinner. The pizza was Zoe and Sam's.

d

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

Ten children wanted to be school councillors.

f

Put the homophones in the correct place in the sentences:

(new/knew) I _____ he had a _____ coat.

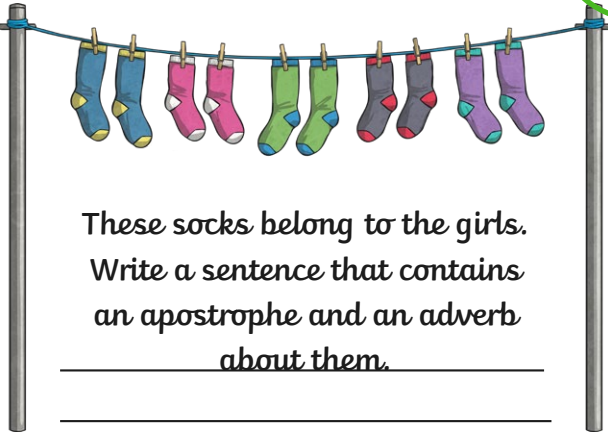

(eight/ate) Neil _____ pancakes.

a

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a fronted adverbial, a conjunction and an adjective. Underline them.

c

These socks belong to the girls. Write a sentence that contains an apostrophe and an adverb about them.

e

Mr Whoops has made FOUR clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentences. Can you underline them and correct them?

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history. He rained for 37 years. Ocasionly, he liked to chop off his wives' heads.

b

Replace the underlined words with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's.

Zoe and Sam bought a pizza for dinner. The pizza was Zoe and Sam's.

Bob ordered the biggest ice cream on the menu. The ice cream was Bob's.

d

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

Ten children wanted to be school councillors.

Now write a sentence with a different determiner and circle it.

f

Put the homophones in the correct place in the sentences:

(new/knew) I _____ he had a _____ coat.

(eight/ate) Neil _____ _____ pancakes.

Can you write a sentence with the homophones 'through' and 'threw' in?

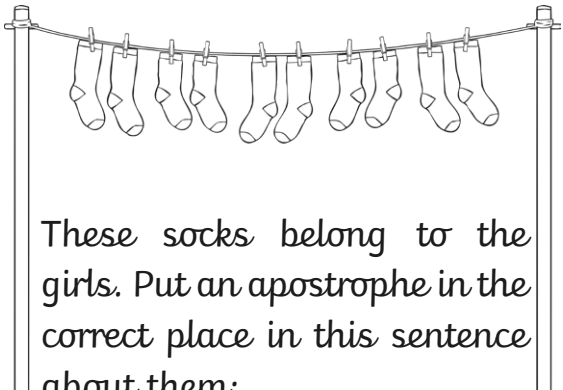

a

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a conjunction and an adjective. Underline them.

Accept any accurately punctuated sentence with an underlined adjective and conjunction, e.g. Fire Woman had an evil plan but Superman would stop her.

c

These socks belong to the girls. Put an apostrophe in the correct place in this sentence about them:

The girls' socks are hanging on the washing line.

e

Mr Whoops has made TWO clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentence. Can you underline them and correct them? Use a dictionary if you need to.

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history.

eighth
history

b

Replace the underlined word with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's.

hers

d

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

f

Put the TWO homophones in the correct place in the sentence: (new/knew)

I knew he had a new coat.

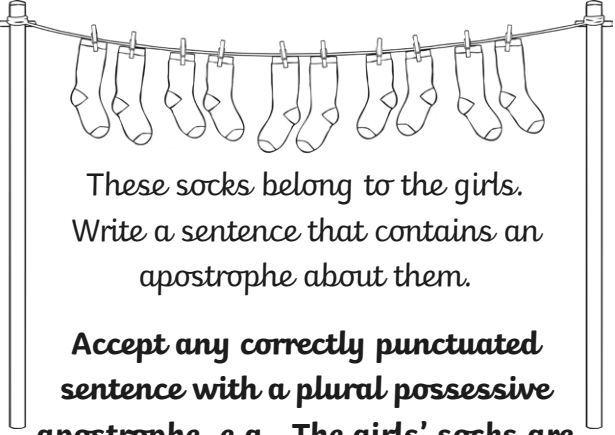

a

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a conjunction, an adverb and an adjective. Underline them.

Accept any accurately punctuated sentence with an underlined adjective, adverb and conjunction, e.g. Fire Woman had an evil plan but Superman would surely stop her.

c

These socks belong to the girls. Write a sentence that contains an apostrophe about them.

Accept any correctly punctuated sentence with a plural possessive apostrophe, e.g. The girls' socks are hanging on the washing line.

e

Mr Whoops has made THREE clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentence. Can you underline them and correct them?

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history. He rained for 37 years.

eighth
history
reigned

b

Replace the underlined words with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's.

hers

Zoe and Sam bought a pizza for dinner. The pizza was Zoe and Sam's.

theirs

d

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

Ten children wanted to be school councillors.

f

Put the homophones in the correct place in the sentences:

(new/knew) I knew he had a new coat.

(eight/ate) Neil ate eight pancakes.

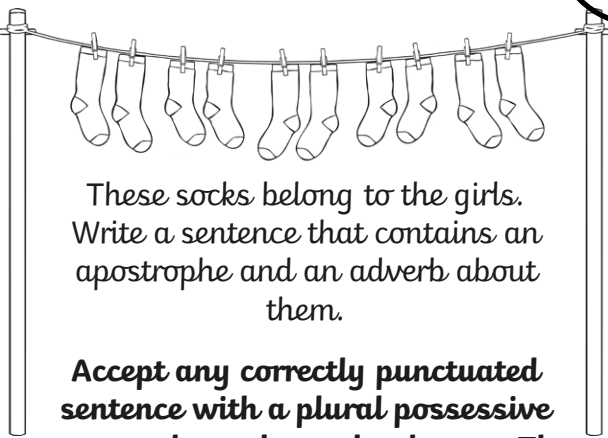

a

Write a sentence about the villain Fire Woman that contains a fronted adverbial, a conjunction and an adjective. Underline them.

Accept any accurately punctuated sentence with an underlined fronted adverbial, adjective and conjunction, e.g. With an evil laugh, Fire Woman prepared to launch a powerful missile but Superman would surely save the world.

c

These socks belong to the girls. Write a sentence that contains an apostrophe and an adverb about them.

Accept any correctly punctuated sentence with a plural possessive apostrophe and an adverb, e.g. The girls' socks were blowing wildly in the strong breeze.

e

Mr Whoops has made FOUR clumsy spelling mistakes in his sentences. Can you underline them and correct them?

Henry the Eighth was the most famous king in Tudor history. He rained for 37 years. Ocasionly, he liked to chop off his wives' heads.

eighth
history
reigned
occasionally

b

Replace the underlined words with a possessive pronoun:

Bella the puppy had a new ball. The ball was Bella's. hers

Zoe and Sam bought a pizza for dinner. The pizza was Zoe and Sam's. theirs

Bob ordered the biggest ice cream on the menu. The ice cream was Bob's. his

d

Circle the determiner in each of the sentences:

Cassie passed an exam.

The footballer played in every match.

Ten children wanted to be school councillors.

Now write a sentence with a different determiner and circle it.

Accept any accurately punctuated sentence with a circled determiner.

f

Put the homophones in the correct place in the sentences:

(new/knew) I knew he had a new coat.

(eight/ate) Neil ate eight pancakes.

Can you write a sentence with the homophones 'through' and 'threw' in?
Accept any sensible sentence, e.g. Lucy threw the ball through the hoop.